

Imperatives

Vocabulary: Imperatives

In Latin, an imperative, as its name would suggest, is a command. Imperatum means order or command. Imperatives can either be singular or plural. Imperatives can also be negative or positive.

Positive Imperatives: Do something!

Sit!	walk!	Hurry!
------	-------	--------

Go away!	Enter!	Carry!
----------	--------	--------

Negative Imperatives: Don't do something!

Don't run!	Don't talk!	Don't sing!
------------	-------------	-------------

Don't cry!	Don't enter!	Don't touch!
------------	--------------	--------------

Notes

Navigō, Navigare – to sail

(1st conjugation)

1st

--	--

2nd

--	--

3rd

--	--

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –

Taceō, Tacēre – to be silent

(2nd conjugation)

1st

--	--

2nd

--	--

3rd

--	--

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –

Notes

Currō, Currere – to run

(3rd conjugation)

1st

--	--

2nd

--	--

3rd

--	--

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –

Audiō, Audīre – to hear/listen

(4th conjugation)

1st

--	--

2nd

--	--

3rd

--	--

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –

Notes

Sum, Esse – to be

(irregular)

1 st
2 nd
3 rd

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –

Eō, Īre – to go

(irregular)

1 st
2 nd
3 rd

Positive Imperative (s) –

Positive Imperative (pl) –

Negative Imperative (s) –

Negative Imperative (pl) –